Description

Quiet apartment in a central location.

The building is a five-storey, listed brick complex that was built in the 1920s.

The architecture combines traditionalist and expressionist elements.

The apartment on the 1st floor is equipped with a carefully maintained wooden floor.

The living room has an open kitchen. The bedroom has a 1.60m wide bed. A place for the home office is available here.

Particularly noteworthy is the central yet quiet location between the Generalsviertel, Rotherbaum and Harvestehude.

In the basement of the house there is a laundry room with a coin-operated washing machine and dryer.
